

Atlantis Leisure and Adventure Oban - Active Travel Coordinator

Location: Oban, Argyll & Bute

Job Type: Freelance contractor, part-time, averaging 21 hours a week.

Duration: 8 months, ideally starting in August 2024 to run over the school year.

Salary: £14/hr (c£9,408 for the project period to March 2025).

Terms: Home working and access to your own laptop/computer is essential. Flexible hours can be agreed to suit existing commitments. Role will be a combination of desk based work and community outreach.

Job Description:

We are seeking a dynamic and passionate Active Travel Coordinator to lead our project on 'Active Routes to Schools': promoting active travel among school age young people in Oban. This role will involve working closely with schools, parents, local authorities, and community groups to develop and implement strategies that encourage children and teenagers to travel to school by foot, bike, or other non-motorised means. The ideal candidate will be an excellent communicator, a creative problem solver, and have a commitment to environmental sustainability and public health.

This project is funded by Paths4All Community Project Transition Fund and is building on the work done to date summarised in this blog.

Qualifications:

- Experience in community engagement, program management, or advocacy, preferably related to active travel or public health.
- Strong organisational and project management skills.
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills.
- Ability to work independently and as part of a team.
- Passion for promoting sustainable transportation and healthy lifestyles.

Desirable:

- Bachelor's degree in public health, education, urban planning, environmental science, or a related field.
- Experience working in a small-town or rural setting.
- Knowledge of local government processes and infrastructure planning.
- Familiarity with active travel best practices and initiatives.
